Shot To Reunite is a diverse coalition of arts leaders, artists, public servants, business and community leaders from across Long Island, who have come together with the goal of boosting confidence in the COVID-19 vaccine. Our coalition – Shot To Reunite – seeks to utilize the creativity and talents of artists to add urgency and clarity to public health messaging and address vaccine skepticism in ways that traditional communications cannot. By using art to spark much needed, fact-based, judgement-free conversations within local communities, we hope to empower all eligible residents to get the COVID-19 shot!
