

June 4th, 2010

Dear Sir or Madam,

Please join us for our next general meeting of the Long Island Business Council. We will feature a keynote address from Richie Kessel, the President and Chief Executive Officer of the New York Power Authority. Mr. Kessel has worked extensively to bring cleaner and cheaper energy to the region and has been a driving force to make Long Island the national leader in clean energy technology. The work session will be held on June 22nd from 8:00 to 9:30 am at the Sustainability Institute at Molloy College, 7185 Republic Airport in East Farmingdale.

Since our last meeting we have been focusing our efforts on improving Long Island's business community through action and attentiveness to local issues. Whether through tax relief, lowering energy costs or improving our downtowns, we have been engaged on many levels to help give a voice to the vital economic force that is Small Business on Long Island. We will be hearing from our four committees on efforts to do just that and make Long Island a better place to do business, as well as continuing the dialogue we have begun amongst business leaders to help refine and further our plans of action.

As a business and community leader your voice is invaluable to us and we sincerely hope you will be able to join us for this interactive work session. We plan to start and end on time and a continental breakfast will be provided. This meeting is by invitation only, so please RSVP by calling (877) 811-7471.

Thank you, and we look forward to your participation.

Sincerely,

Richard M Bivone, Nassau Chair, Long Island Business Council

Robert Fonti, Suffolk Chair, Long Island Business Council
